

A box plot visualization showing the distribution of a variable. The box is red, indicating a positive skew. The median is marked by a horizontal line within the box. The whiskers extend from the box to the minimum and maximum values. There are several outliers plotted as small circles above the upper whisker.

